Announcing the 2019 Open Preservation Foundation Digital Preservation Community Survey

Martin Wrigley, OPF
About the Open Preservation Foundation (OPF)

- Global, not for profit, membership organisation
- Developing vital open source DP tools and knowledge
- 5 staff, 2 offices (UK and Amsterdam)
- 26 members around the world

Our Surveys

- Member survey - first run in 2014
- Community survey - first run in 2015
- Results of 2019 member survey recently published
2019 member survey highlights

Use of open source technology among OPF members

Use of OPF tools in production and for evaluation/testing in OPF member organisations 2019 digital preservation community survey

- Assess current state-of-the-art in digital preservation practices
- Identify current use of digital preservation tools and approaches
- (Anonymised) findings and data will be published openly - a resource for the whole community

World Digital Preservation Day - 7 November 2019

@openpreserve | https://openpreservation.org/subscribe