Terms and conditions applicable once the applicant successfully becomes an OPF member

1. The member organisation may use the OPF name and logo on their website, marketing materials, or in any other way consistent with the OPF guidelines.
2. OPF may use the member's name and logo on the OPF website. The member is responsible for providing guidelines to OPF for such usage.
3. Intellectual property rights (IPR): the member will retain its own IPR and does not acquire IPR from other contributions from members, OPF, or external contributors.
4. Mutual non-disclosure: OPF will keep confidential any and all confidential or sensitive information from members. Members' representatives will respect the confidentiality of other members.
5. Data protection, General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR): OPF will securely hold and process appropriately any data required for membership and participation in OPF activities.
6. Antitrust policy: OPF activities do not constitute any form of activity that might be considered contrary to antitrust regulations or laws.
7. Press policy: OPF may issue press releases on OPF activities. OPF will not mention specific members' names without their approval. Members will not issue press releases that mention OPF without OPF's explicit approval. Members may not indicate OPF endorsement of any product or system without OPF's explicit consent.

NB In the event a member organisation is sold, changes name, changes fiscal processing systems or the main point of contact leaves the organisation, the member undertakes to advise the OPF with the new details within 60 days..
